

NEW YORK LETTER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. The result in Maine is satisfactory to Republicans here for the same reason that the result in Vermont was, only it is more so. That is because the proportion of Republican apathy is manifestly smaller. Many Republicans stayed at home however, and for that reason those best qualified to judge of the exact situation feel even more certain than before that there is not a Republican or expansionist, or sound money man, or loyal supporter of prosperity, of law and order, but needs to do his utmost to win over to the side of the right cause as many voters as he can. The uncertain element is the really independent vote—the class of thinking, quiet, conservative business men who are very busy making money now and have little time for politics, but who usually decide a contest, in a close State at least.

To illustrate: In a certain ward in Brooklyn recently less than 25 per cent. of the voters in the last election were willing to declare their allegiance to a certain party at the primaries. The 75 per cent. over of these voters are evidently influenced on most occasions, when it is necessary for them to vote and when they are sufficiently aroused to vote, by the considerations which immediately surround them. In an average community, whether in New York or Kansas, will McKinley and Roosevelt get that vote? It would seem as if they must. This kind of thinking, quiet, conservative business men—and this class includes all of the clerks, wage-earners, etc., who depend upon business for their occupation—would reflect that present conditions of prosperity are good enough for them; that McKinley is tried and has been found true; that Roosevelt represents the aggressive American sentiment which, whatever they may say, is exactly what they like; that in State as well as National affairs they had better place control in the hands of those who, from experience and wisdom, not to say from a superior stock of patriotism, have proved all right.

Yet work needs to be done among all such voters. Suppose every man of this kind were to secure for the Republican ticket a single additional vote; suppose one in ten among them secured a single vote additional; the result would be secure, for who is there who needs to be told that it is only the 5 per cent. or even the 2 or 3 per cent. of independent, changing voters that determine the result?

It is expected that this work will be done. It has not been done thus far. The Democrats are not inactive; they are neglecting an opportunity. It is even more evident than before Senator Jones came here this time that his campaign chest is well filled—partly because his own firm for business, since becoming a millionaire within a year, has "put him on" to certain new methods, partly because he is undoubtedly getting the financial support of certain Gold Democrats who want to crawl back into their party and who are willing to pay for it—and who consider that a business panic, which they admit to be entirely possible, is a "small price to pay."

There is another interesting thing that every antagonist of Bryanism ought to know. It is that the most socialistic and incendiary utterances of the Populists are now being repeated in hundreds of places, and are likely to be repeated in thousands of places before this campaign is over—not merely in the socialist and incendiary newspapers and on the stump of the Bryan orators in the usual way, but in hundreds of unusual places. It has been Mr. Bryan's plan, which he is taking pains himself to execute, that his wild charge that "the laborer is not receiving his share," and "where do you come in, my poor working man?" and all that sort of thing, shall be taken from person to person in the workshops, mills, offices, barber shops, saloons, in short, everywhere that there is a listener.

What is going to be done to meet this kind of faking? Shall the Republicans try to send around their insinuating talkers with every kind of argument, and right ones, so that they may be effective? Manifestly this ought to be done; but quite as manifestly every natural enemy of these beliefs or prejudices, and especially of that socialistic and incendiary danger—ought to know what is going on. He should accordingly make extra personal efforts to counteract this insidious work.

This new method of Bryanite campaigning for which it is known Mr. Croker is going to furnish the money in New York is of a piece with the now admitted successful efforts of certain Democratic leaders to incite a strike among the coal miners. No one can tell what will come out of that situation—except that untold misery will come out of it, with a chance against the success of the strike. Why not? Parenthetically, what shall be said of those strike leader who have led tens of thousands of their deluded followers into this thing, when according to the figures, not 15 per cent. of the coal miners of the country belonged to the union? It would seem, unless our whole theory of government is wrong, unless the whole sentiment of our people is socialistic and incendiary, that such reckless and desperate efforts to incite class prejudice ought to fail, not merely among those who do not sympathize with such procedures, but among the very ones who have been led by false prophets into the general misery.

There are other striking pieces of news here besides the injection of Mr. Bryan and Mr. Jones into the local situation as advance agents of prejudice and panic. One true report is that the reason why David B. Hill has made his fight for Coler, and against Croker,

CONSUMPTION

Do not think for a single moment that consumption will ever strike you a sudden blow. It does not come that way.

It creeps its way along. First you think it is a little cold, nothing but a little hacking cough; then a little loss in weight; then a harder cough; then the fever and the night sweats.

Better stop the disease while it is yet creeping. Better cure your cough today.

You can do it with

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

The pressure on the chest is lifted, that feeling of suffocation is removed, and you are cured. You can stop that little cold with a 25 cent bottle; harder coughs will need a 50 cent size; if it's on the lungs the one dollar size will be most economical.

"I confidently recommend Ayer's Cherry Pectoral to all my patients. I have used it many times. Forty years ago I feel sure it saved my life." A. S. Brown, M.D., Jan. 4, 1898, Fort Madison, Iowa.

Write the Doctor at any time. Ad. Dress, Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell, Mass.

throughout the State, is that he believes that the remains of the present Democratic/Populist ticket will hardly be worth picking up after election, and that when the old-fashioned Democrat climbs into the saddle again, or comes out of the woods, then David B. Hill will be a kind of new weather vane of a Moses who will lead the lost tribes out of these same woods. Mr. Hill knows that he has been considered a Presidential possibility hitherto, and he does not see why he should not figure in such a business again.

The Cup Challenger Genesta.

Of all the English yachts which have come over to compete for the "America cup," there is probably none that has made such a good record for herself as Genesta; certainly she came nearer winning the cup than any yacht that preceded her or came after.

The American yachting enthusiast who was so fortunate as to be present at that famous race in 1885 of 20 miles to leeward and return will not soon forget the anxiety with which he saw Sir Richard Sutton's yacht slipping down the wind to the outer mark with an ever widening distance between her and the centerboard "Puritan," nor the delight with which, when the boats hauled on the wind, he saw the centerboard slowly, but steadily, outweathering the cutter, and finally romping home, the winner by the close but undeniable margin of 1 minute and 28 seconds.

In the light weather trial the shallow centerboard with her relatively larger beam to draft as some cutters of her time, she was sent over here at a time when the "keel versus centerboard" controversy was at its height.

Although she failed to take home the cup, Genesta was successful in winning both the Brenton Reef and Cape May cups.

The Genesta was a typical English deep-keel, outside-lead cutter of the so-called plank-on-edge type; though she was not so extreme in her relation of beam to draft as some cutters of her time, she was sent over here at a time when the "keel versus centerboard" controversy was at its height.

In none of the races that have followed those of 1885 have the competing yachts of the two nations shown so strongly the distinguishing national characteristics as did Puritan and Genesta, the one being distinguished by narrow beam, deep draft, outside lead, last, large displacement and relatively small sail plan; the other by great beam, shallow draft, and both inside and outside ballast.

The famous old cutter is now upon the beach in process of being broken up for old iron and junk, an inglorious end that overmakes all craft, except a few favored warships like our own Hartford, or Nelson's old ship, the Victory, Scientific American.

"Thought it meant death sure," says James McKim of Dunville, Ont., who, after his almost miraculous cure from heart disease by Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart: "Until I began taking this remedy I despaired of my life. I had heart failure and extreme prostration. One dose gave me quick relief and one bottle cured me. The medicines of years were like magic." Sold by Edmund Wilson and A. A. Howes & Co., 2.

Deer Isle Yachtsmen.

John S. Annis, who has been employed as steward of yacht Papoose, arrived home Wednesday.

Arthur Scott of the yacht Spalpeen, came up from Bar Harbor Monday and returned Wednesday.

The yacht Constellation, Capt. "Nate" Watson, arrived here Sunday and sailed again Monday. This yacht is said to be the largest sail yacht in the United States, and carries a crew of twenty-two. Her first officer, E. B. Johnson, was formerly a Deer Isle boy.

The yacht Athene came into the harbor Saturday afternoon and sailed Monday for Dark Harbor, from there she will proceed to Marblehead. Among her crew are the following from this place: Roland Small, first officer; H. C. Holden, steward; Charles Gray, Samuel Bray, Andrew Scott, Charles Gray and Roland Torrey, seamen.

Letters have been received from Benjamin Tyler, second officer of steam yacht Canada, that they had visited the Paris Exposition and were all ready to sail and expected to arrive at New London about Sept. 20th. Mr. Tyler will have leave of absence for several weeks about Christmas time, and will spend it with his parents, Capt. and Mrs. D. T. Tyler of Stonington. [Messenger.]

POLITICAL POINTS.

The Hon. George Fred Williams would be an ideal Secretary of State in a Bryan cabinet. Fancy George Fred dealing with the diplomats of the world on the Chinese question.

Illinois farmers are getting five cents a pound in gold for their hogs. In fact, they are doing almost as well as Mr. Bryan did with his oat crop.

One of the Massachusetts free silver leaders, the Hon. Timothy Coakley, who has served a term of enlistment in the Philippines, is so disgusted with Mr. Bryan's policy of surrender that he is coming home to support the Republican ticket. He declares that national honor is paramount to financial questions. In other words, he places the nation above the dollar.

The Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson's record as a greenbacker was made before Mr. Bryan had heard of the silver question. Adlai ought to stand very well with the Populists.

Captain William E. English of Indianapolis is another Democrat who cannot be deceived by the paramilitary process. He has announced his intention of supporting McKinley and Roosevelt.

There is nothing in the constitution to conflict with the Hon. P. Altgeld's aspirations for a seat on the bench of the Supreme Court, but they are destined to receive a rude shock at the hands of the American voters.

Nobody was so unfair as to accuse Mr. Bryan of being an imperialist when he was engaged in working for the ratification of the Paris treaty. The worst that was said of him at that time by his Democratic critics was that his jealousy of Mr. Gorman was leading him to destroy some campaign material. Mr. Gorman had the "anti-imperialist" cry in mind long before Mr. Bryan thought of it. In fact, Mr. Bryan acquired the idea in much the same manner he took up the late Mr. Bland's silver hobby.

Li Hung Chang will doubtless join Aguinaldo in hoping for the success of the Democratic party.

The Illinois Central's ten per cent. raise of wages must be another phase of the conspiracy to keep up general prices in this country. Mr. Bryan ought to look into this.

The Seaboard Air Line, operating some 2,700 miles of railroad in the Eastern States of the South, has ordered 2,000 new freight cars—not wholly for tramps to ride upon, either.

The negroes may own one-sixth of the real estate, as they do in several counties in Virginia, but to expect to vote, that is another matter.

If elected President Mr. Bryan will become commander-in-chief of the army. This being the case, how will Mr. Bryan pay the soldiers of the United States who have restored order in the Philippines and rescued Minister Conger? Will it be in silver? It is very important that the soldiers and ex-soldiers understand the matter clearly and distinctly.

Before Mr. Bryan gets through squaring his past relations to the Paris treaty with his present position relative to the Philippine question, he will wish he had clung to silver as a paramount issue.

The fact that the Republicans insist on choosing their own line of battle during the present campaign is considered very unfair by the enemy.

Indiana continues to contribute prominent Democrats to the Republican cause.

Those timid people who imagine the constitution is violated and the republic destroyed because there are American soldiers in China without a declaration of war by Congress, may be comforted by knowing that the war with Mexico was fourteen months old before there was a formal declaration thereof.

Silence must not be taken as evidence of a change of heart, and Bryan has never confessed that he was mistaken either about free silver or free trade.

Mr. Bryan's speeches illustrate the fact that there is a vast difference between reasons and reasoning.

No increase in popularity seems to accrue to 16 to 1.

Following the teachings of Bryan and Edward Atkinson, the Filipinos have taken to counterfeiting the silver dollar. Is this not carrying the free coinage idea to an absurd extreme?

With wheat, corn and cotton prices at the low notch, it is hard to convince the farmers that prosperity is a myth.

Kansas cannot find cars enough to carry her crops. Thus is opened the golden opportunity to kick because of too much prosperity.

It Happened in a Drug Store. "One day last winter a lady came to my drug store and asked for a brand of cough medicine that I did not have in stock," says Mr. C. R. Grandin, the popular druggist of Ontario, N. Y. "She was disappointed and wanted to know what cough preparation I could recommend. I said to her that I could freely recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that she could take a bottle of the remedy and see if it gave her a fair trial if she did not find it worth the money to bring back the bottle and I would refund the price paid. In the course of a day or two the lady came back in company with a friend in need of a cough medicine and advised her to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I consider that a very good recommendation for the remedy. The remedy owes its great popularity and extensive sale in a large measure to the personal recommendation of people who have been cured by its use.

For sprains, swellings and lameness there is nothing so good as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Try it.

General Palmer.

Gen. John M. Palmer, ex-governor of Illinois, ex-United States Senator and candidate of the Democrats four years ago, died at his home in Springfield, Ill., Monday Sept. 24th. The end was unlooked for, as Gen. Palmer had appeared in his usual health, and last Saturday acted as one of the honorary pall bearers at the funeral of his long-time friend, Gen. McClelland. His had been a typical American and western career, and it is to be said of him that he always kept faith with his convictions. Nothing better could be said of a public man than this. His career in politics extended over well-nigh 50 years, and from the beginning to the end he was honest, straightforward, resolute and useful. No man in our politics ever truckled less, and from first to last the people of Illinois loved and trusted John M. Palmer. When the Democratic party early in his manhood life became untrue to freedom, he left it. He was an ardent supporter of the Union and fought for it when the arbitrament of war came. He was, at the time, governor of his state, and senator of the United States, and in 1896 he became the presidential candidate of the gold Democrats, with Gen. Buckner, who had fought on the other side in the war of the rebellion, as his associate on the ticket. His acceptance of his nomination was an act of self-sacrifice, but it was characteristic of the man. All his life he went straight and sure, whether his convictions led him. In all he was a staunch statesman of the old school, plain, rugged, forceful, who held the respect of all men in simple honesty.

He was elected to the Senate by the Legislature of 1891, the product of that campaign. Gen. Palmer's surprising vigor commanded the attention of the country, for he was then 74 years of age. His hair and whiskers were silver gray, and he was a grandfather, but he showed in 1888 and 1890 an energy that would have been worthy of comment in a man of 25.

The independence and integrity of the man was shown last January, when he vetoed the proposition of Senator Culom of Illinois to have his war pension increased from $20 to $200 a month. He said that he could not possibly accept such an increase, as he had already told his friends that his present pension was all that he desired. In 1897 William E. Mason succeeded Gen. Palmer in the United States Senate. The ex-Senator continued the practice of law in Springfield, Ill., until age and failing sight compelled his retirement from active life last year. Gen. Palmer was married twice, the second time late in life. One of his sons is an officer in the United States army, and another is an attorney in Chicago. [Springfield Republican.]

Schooner Mary E. Lermund Abandoned.

Washburn Bros. of Thomaston received a telegram from their New York correspondents Sept. 25th, stating that the schooner Mary E. Lermund, of which they were the agents and principal owners, was passed, abandoned, Sept. 19th, in lat. 29 deg. N., lon. 65 deg. W. Washburn Bros. have no further information as to the wreck, but figure that she must have been in the path of the Galveston hurricane; in fact, they have had fears for her safety ever since the great storm.

The Mary E. Lermund was a three-masted schooner of about 200 tons, built by Washburn Bros., and launched from their yard in Thomaston only three months ago. She cost about $25,000, and was partly insured. At the time of the disaster the Lermund was bound from Fernandina for Martinique, with lumber. She was commanded by Capt. Thomas F. Sprout of Waldoboro, but the other officers and the crew were shipped at Boston, and there is no record of them on this end. Whether they perished or were picked up by a passing vessel and conveyed to some distant port is pure conjecture.

It has been claimed that Carnegie was for Bryan this year, but he ought to know.
Senator J. P. Doherty has a vigorous article in the October Forum on "The Presidential Issues of the Campaign."

He shows, from the Republican standpoint, what are really the issues of the campaign, denies that the money question is dead, and maintains that the election of Mr. Bryan for the ensuing Presidential term is fraught with as much danger as it was in 1896.

"Great as is the power of the English language, words fail to express the contempt that is felt for one who resorts to dishonest tactics and underhand methods," says the New York Tribune in an editorial on the foul tactics of Bryan. Unfortunately Bryan is not the only one to resort to such tactics and to merit a contempt that the English language is incapable of expressing.

The New York Herald's mid-campaign canvass of the country indicates that McKinley and Roosevelt are far in the lead of Bryan and Stevenson. Unless conditions undergo a tremendous change, the Republican candidates are reasonably certain to receive 25 electoral votes. The Democratic candidates are sure of 16 electoral votes. There are only three States about which the Herald's correspondents will not hazard an opinion. These are Indiana, Idaho and Montana, with a total of 21 electoral votes. These States are classed as doubtful.

The value of summer property at summer resorts is one of the most troublesome things that the assessors have to contend with in estimating values. In the case of certain property it is comparatively easy to get at the values as that can be gained in part from the earning capacity of the land. At the summer resorts it is different. In many places the land is practically valueless as far as its earning capacity goes and where it is used for farming purposes it would be deserted at the end of the first year. Yet some one has taken a fancy to have a cottage there and the value is placed high, especially if some one tries to make a purchase. (Kennebec Journal.)

Yes, and often the price is so high that no purchase is made, and the would-be buyer seeks a summer home elsewhere. Of course this is a short sighted policy, by which the community loses as well as the individual owner, but there seems to be no remedy for it. Perhaps if such property was taxed at the owner's valuation he might revise his figures.

Gen. John M. Palmer, who died Sept. 24th at his home in Illinois, was a man who had the courage of his convictions and had the respect and confidence of all who knew him. Four years ago he was the candidate for President of the true Democrats, who declined to commit themselves to populism and Bryanism; and here is what he said after Bryan's nomination this year at Kansas City:

"Imperialism is a false alarm. The country is not, nor are Mr. McKinley and his followers, believers in imperialism. Mr. Bryan is the high priest of Populism, a fanatic who is already strong enough to menace the best interests of a safe government. Between McKinley and Bryan there is but one course—to vote for McKinley.
This is in line with a recent letter from Abram S. Hewitt of New York, a life-long Democrat, the next friend of Samuel J. Tilden in the Presidential contest of 1876, Mayor of New York, member of Congress, and for years at the head of large business enterprises. The letter was called out by a correspondent, whose questions are frankly answered by Mr. Hewitt. For example, when asked whether a Democrat who should vote for McKinley and Roosevelt could be considered false to Democratic principles, Mr. Hewitt responds:

"I do not see how a Democrat who is true to the interests of Democracy can in the present exigency take any other course than to vote for the Republican ticket. I propose myself so to vote, and I do this because I am a Democrat who feels that Bryanism and all that it stands for is diametrically opposed to the principles of the Democratic party, as they were enunciated by Jefferson and as they have been construed by all the great men who have led the Democratic party up to the time of the holding of the unhappy convention of 1896, when the old organization was broken up. I have but little sympathy with the Republican party, and, as a rule, have found its leaders to be opportunists and not statesmen. Nevertheless, in the present crisis the Philadelphia platform is much more acceptable than the platform of the Kansas City convention.

NEW YORK LETTER.

NEW YORK Oct. 1, 1900. Calamity always has been, and always will be, the chief stock in trade of the Democratic party. It has always been a calamity howler, always prospers on calamity—of the imaginary kind rather than the real—and yet it has been the record of that party for more than forty years. It has brought calamity threefold greater than its orators complained of whenever it secured power in the United States. It is a party of croakers. Consequently it is with great glee that the Democrats hail the strike in Pennsylvania. The prospect for higher prices for coal, to be paid by the rich and poor alike seems to be a tonic to the Democratic spirits, for they figure on making political capital out of the strike in Pennsylvania. The general impression in New York is that it is a Democratic strike, was organized, originated and fostered by the Democratic leaders for political effect in this presidential campaign. Of course every man who knows anything is perfectly aware that the Republican party and the National Administration have nothing whatever to do with the strike nor the grievances of which the miners complain. Every Democratic orator on the stump and the Democratic papers have already begun to hold the Republican party responsible for all the ills that may grow out of this strike and which may have deplorable consequences before it ends. A strike inaugurated solely for political effect is nothing short of crime.

Crocker is reaching out. For a long while Tammany was content to control New York city. From time to time, however, ambitious leaders have essayed to control the state of New York, and even to enter national politics. Crocker is one of these misguided bosses of Tammany who thinks that his success in Tammany can be extended to New York state, and then to the United States. He has already shown that he absolutely controls the New York Democratic machine in spite of Hill and the better element that was with Hill. His grip upon Bryan is no doubt very strong. The Chairman of the Democratic National Committee frequently visits New York to consult Crocker on national affairs. Crocker's support of Bryan in case he would be elected would no doubt give him control of a vast deal of patronage, and there is now before the people of the United States the prospect of a Democratic national machine built up similar to the Tammany machine in New York city, in which every employee of the government will be compelled to pay a heavy tribute for maintaining the Democratic power. That would be Crockerism carried out to its logical ends, and the position of the Democratic party regarding the civil service is certainly based upon the Tammany idea.

As an evidence of the way Crocker is reaching out, I call attention to his desire to increase his control of the United States Senate. He has already a number of southern senators now under his thumb, and he wants to get some more. He is now anxious to have his personal friend, John H. McGraw, of West Virginia, elected to the Senate, and it is understood that a part of the large Tammany campaign fund is being poured into that state for the purpose of electing McGraw to succeed Senator Elkins. McGraw would be dominated absolutely by Crocker, and would be one more senator added to those Crocker has already acquired. Crocker tried the same game two years ago, but was not able to land McGraw in spite of the attempt of the Democrats to rob the people of their choice.

The development in the Philippines of two islands which will produce enough rubber to supply not only this country, but the world, will be a great thing for the United States. We now send abroad about $30,000,000 annually for rubber. If all of this can be produced in our own dominions, besides sending an equal amount to foreign nations, so much the better for the United States, and this is also a further proof that there should be no "scuttling" policy in the Philippines.

Senator Wellington, the flopping United States senator of Maryland, says "we" when speaking of Bryan, Crocker, et al. He said to a prominent West Virginia Republican the other day: "We will carry Maryland, but you have got us on the run over in West Virginia." Wellington is also indulging in promises of patronage (his favorite occupation in politics) to those who will support Bryan. It is understood that inducements are being held out by him to such Republicans as in some degree owe their appointments to Wellington that they may continue in their places if they will support the Democratic ticket. That is just like Wellington all over. It must be very interesting to Gorman when he hears that Wellington is preparing to control the patronage of Maryland in case Bryan should be elected.

The London Standard says it understands that the British Government has already received offers for underground mining rights in the Transvaal, which will go a long way toward meeting the cost of the war.

The newspapers of Richmond, Va., are agitating in favor of the passage of "a canine curfew law," to the end that the stillness of the night shall not be broken by the howling and barking of vagrant dogs.

Juvenile Temples.

Mrs. E. P. Alexander of Belfast was elected Grand Superintendent of Juvenile Temples at the annual meeting of the Maine Grand Lodge of Good Templars. In the past six months she has re-organized the Juvenile Temple work, closing up the temples that have ceased activity and strengthening those that showed any signs of life. She has instituted eight new temples in the State. The last three are in Waldo county, with the following officers:

Western Star, No. 62, Liberty. Supt., Mrs. Chas. Holt; C. T., Earl Reynolds; P. C. T., Stella Cram; V. T., Christie Brown; Chap., Geneva Cram; M. Helen Hurd; D. M., Hazel Young; F. S., Ruby Hurd; Sec., Frank Ayer; Tr., Leta Young; G. L. Reynolds; S. Marshall Gordon; A. S., Ida Gordon.

Good Hope, No. 36, Morrill. Supt., Maggie Woods; C. T., Mabel Hatch; V. T., Georgie Blake; Chap., Willie Meader; P. C. T., Harry Wing; Tr., Florence Cross; Asst. Sec'y, Phoebe Cross; F. S., Alpha Wood; Sec., Hattie Meader; M., Lizzie Blake; G. L., Hobart Blodgett; S., Maurice Gray; D. M., Bertha Hatch.

Southern Star, No. 79, Montville. Supt., Simeon Cram; C. T., Roscoe Howes; V. T., Ethel Howes; P. C. T., John Adams; M., Carl Adams; D. M., Edie Grant; F. S., Martin; Tr., Clifford Randall; Sec., Florence Martin; A. S., Lillie Gilman; G. L., Edie Moore; S., Edwin Martin.

The Maine W. C. T. U.

The annual convention of the Maine W. C. T. U. was held in Calais last week with a good attendance, including four general officers, twelve presidents and a good proportion of superintendents. Miss Mary French, press superintendent, reported securing 1800 columns of temperance matter in the state papers during the year. A report was also made that 25 children had been placed in homes during the year. At the session Sept. 28th Mrs. Lillian M. Stevens was again chosen president. This was Miss Willard's third year and interest was added to the memorial service because of this fact. Mrs. R. C. Hall conducted the service. The other officers were elected as follows: Corresponding secretary, Miss Cornelia M. Dow, Portland; recording secretary, Miss Clara M. Farwell, Rockland; treasurer, Mrs. W. S. Johnston, Fort Fairfield. Delegates to the national convention, Washington, D. C., Mrs. H. A. Warren, Mrs. A. E. Bradford, Mrs. Oscar Holway, Mrs. Sarah L. Cram, Mrs. M. F. Curtis, Mrs. E. R. Horton, Miss Edie Littlefield; delegate-at-large, Mrs. H. C. Reed.

At the afternoon session Mrs. Beely gave an extensive report of the world's convention in Edinburgh in June, and Mrs. Anna Hunt spoke for the department of scientific temperance instruction in schools. At 4 o'clock Miss Gordon, Miss Littlefield and Mrs. Leavitt addressed the young women of Calais and organized a Young Women's Christian Temperance Union with the following officers: President, Miss Alice Burbank; secretary, Miss Winifred Vose; treasurer, Miss Edith Johnson.

The closing session of the convention was held in the evening and the audience was the largest of the convention, which was in every way a great success. The address of the evening was by Miss Anna A. Gordon, on "The Past, Present and Future of the W. C. T. U."

The Trotting at Union.

The 23d annual fair of the North Knox Agricultural and Horticultural Society was held in Union Sept. 25-27 and was largely attended. The horse trots Wednesday afternoon took in the 2:25 and 2:45 classes. Both races were won in three straight heats, although each heat was hotly contested. Summary:

2:25 class. Purse, $100.
Sisile M. ch. m. E. H. Berry, Rockland..... 1 1

Maine Railroads.

The reports of the railroads for the railroad year which ended June 30, 1900, are now coming forward. They show that the roads have received increased prosperity on the part of the steam roads with few exceptions. Especially have the large corporations prospered, as shown by increased business, both in freight and passengers. The Wisconsin & Quebec continues to be a losing piece of property. In several instances electric roads which have been running for a term of years, show a falling off in earnings for some cause. These railroads are becoming numerous, and are an important factor in the development and progress of the State. Of the W. & Q. road, which has passed into the hands of its bond holders, it is said that it again falls to pay operating expenses. Although its gross earnings were $18,575.25, its operating expenses amounted to $21,041.70, thus leaving a deficit of $2,466.45. In 1899 the deficit was $1,401.05. The interest on the funded debt this year was $9,544.68, so that the total deficit from operation was $12,546. The total deficit June 30 was $43,700.

Secret Societies.

The regular meeting of Timothy Chase Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, will be held this, Thursday evening, and of Phoenix Lodge next Monday evening. Timothy Chase Lodge will work the 2d and 3d degrees.

The first annual field day of the 3d Regiment, Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias, will be held in Augusta, Tuesday, Oct. 9. The companies which compose the regiment come from Pittsfield, Skowhegan, Waterville, Augusta, Gardiner and Hallowell and it is expected that they will all be represented at the field day. The Belfast Company has been invited to take part.

A WONDERFUL SALE OF DRY GOODS
FRED A. JOHNSON'S.

A tremendous sacrifice in prices. EVERYTHING MARKED DOWN. Of course we don't like to do this at this season of the year, but read on and you will see the reason why. Our NEW STOCK OF FALL GOODS has been arriving daily for the past two weeks, and now our counters are crowded with seasonable merchandise. But it is a case of MUST SELL AT ONCE. It has been decided to REMODEL our store. We hate to do this just as the busy season opens, but rather than run the risk of our goods getting soiled during the fracas, and in order to make room for the carpenters we are FORCED to sell a good many things EVEN AT A LOSS.

Now is the time for you to buy, even if it is a little early. There will be many rare values if you want them, and if you come before your neighbor you will get a better choice.

FRED A. JOHNSON, - Masonic Temple.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Margaret M. Huxford died in Brooks Sept. 16th, 1900, at the residence of her son, Thaddeus I. Huxford, where she has lived since the death of her husband. She was 80 years 9 months and 2 days old and had lived in this village since she was two years of age. She was with one exception the oldest person in Brooks. No one in town knew more of the history of the place and of the people who have lived here than she. She was born in Waldo in this State, the daughter of Isaac and Mary Nesmith and was one of a family of eight children, of whom the only survivor is Mrs. Eliza Campbell of Winterport. She married Harry E. Huxford, of Brooks, and reared a family of four children. James M. and Norman B. are dead. Francis E. married C. H. Treat and now resides in East Orange N. J., and Thaddeus I. married the only daughter of Hon. Alfred W. Rich and has for many years been in business in Brooks. The deceased was the first person to join the Congregational Society, in the first church built in Brooks, and was during all her life a worthy and consistent member thereof. She delighted in deeds of benevolence, was patient and uncomplaining, and seemed to appreciate to the fullest extent the kindness and care bestowed upon her by the family of her son. She had been confined to the house for some years but was up and dressed each day until the last, when her fatal illness occurred and was of but a few hours duration. The funeral services were held at her late residence the Rev. Mr. Barker officiating. The floral decorations were profuse and beautiful and included a wreath from Miss M. J. Otis and roses from Mrs. Ellen Castle of Belfast; roses, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Treat; roses, Misses Mabel, Mildred and Gale Treat; pillow, T. I. Huxford and wife; bouquet of roses, May and Alfred Huxford; asters, Miss Mabel Rose; ferns, potted plants, etc., from numerous friends. A good neighbor, an affectionate mother and a Christian woman has gone to her reward.

At a class meeting Tuesday noon the Juniors decided by ballot which of the designs for class pins they had been considering should be adopted. The design selected is a crescent and triangle.

The Junior Literature class had a composition on the Pleiades for Monday. Their poem for this week is "Endymion."

Augustus C. Buell, the author of the elaborate life of Paul Jones that the Scribners are publishing, though a shipbuilder in the great Cramp firm, has already written another book, a history of a regiment in the Civil War. He is said to have acquired fluency in an amazing number of the value and a "good story" in newspaper fact that he is a lineal descendant of a member of the Bon Homme Richard's crew. (N. York Tribune.)

This will interest people down Isle au Haut, where Buell was a summer sojourner years ago, and where he built a big cutter of the English type that later was sold by the sheriff, and is now the property of a summer resident of Camden and is named Sunbeam. Buell came to Washington, D. C., from St. Louis in the early '70s as a newspaper correspondent; later became connected with the Cramps, and now it appears he is winning laurels as an author.

Everyone is cordially invited. No tickets; no collection.

FAUST. Lewis Morrison's spectacular play Faust was given in the Belfast Opera House Monday evening before a good audience. The scenic effects were as fine as ever produced in Belfast and the cast was well chosen. Every actor was a star in his part, and the voices, costumes and gestures were in perfect keeping with the spirit of the play.

At the adjourned meeting of the trustees of the Waldo County Agricultural Society Monday afternoon, W. H. Beckwith and J. C. Townsend were instructed to repair the well at the north corner of the grounds. W. G. Preston and M. B. Lawrence were instructed to drain the track. The remaining bills of the fair were audited, and considerable routine business attended to. Adjourned to Nov. 5th at 2 o'clock p. m.

SEPTEMBER WEATHER. The weather record for the month shows September to have been an unusually warm month. The mean temperature was 61.74, against 55.88 for September, 1899, and an average of 59.84 for September for 40 years past. The highest temperature was 85; the 3d day; lowest, 36 the 19th. Rain fell on 4 days, with a total rainfall of 3.65 inches. There were heavy frosts the mornings of the 19th and 20th, and a thunder shower the evening of the 21st.

FISH FATS. Edwin Curtis caught a "racer" codfish at the lower bridge Sunday. The fish was 35 feet long. It is seldom that bottom fish come into the harbor beyond the monument, but this fellow was in waters generally monopolized by flounders and smelts, but in which tinkers have been schooling for the past two weeks. Sloop Elsie of Swan's Island arrived Monday night with about 1,000 pounds of fresh and corned fish. The captain sold his fish and bought a cargo of general merchandise.

CHAUTAUQUA MEETINGS. The members of Seaside Chautauqua Circle were entertained by Mrs. Carrie F. Clark, Mrs. Mary S. Whitmore and Mrs. M. Robertson at the home of the former, Monday afternoon October 1st, this date marking the beginning of the C. L. S. C. year. After the business meeting a floral program was given, which included music, quotations on flowers, short poems, a free recitation entitled "The Flowers," and singing C. L. S. C. songs. The company then gathered around the table, which was decorated with bouquets of autumn flowers and vines. In the center was a miniature representation of "Lake Chautauqua," bordered by shrubs and plants, and around this the treat was arranged, each plate of food representing some common flower. Twenty-four varieties of these graced the table. Each guest received a souvenir card bearing a list of the names of the flowers. A vote of thanks was given our entertainers who so ingeniously arranged the floral banquet. The next meeting of Seaside Circle will be with Mrs. C. A. Hubbard, 4 Park Street, Monday afternoon, October 8th. The lesson is from the Chautauqua Magazine, the "Rivalry of Nations," chapters one and two.

is, by no means, the dreadful disease it is thought to be—in the beginning.

It can always be stopped—in the beginning. The trouble is: you don't know you've got it; you don't believe it; you won't believe it—till you are forced to. Then it is dangerous.

Don't be afraid; but attend to it quick—you can do it yourself and at home.

Take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, and live carefully every way.

This is sound doctrine, whatever you may think or be told; and, if heeded, will save life.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.

A series of Saturday night dances was opened in Odd Fellow's Hall Sept. 20th, with music by Ames' Orchestra.

The Silver Lake Creamery is temporarily in charge of Lewis Marden, while George Foss, the foreman, is on a hunting trip.

L. C. Smith will leave this morning for North Cambridge, Mass., to visit his daughter, and will probably spend the winter there.

Mrs. Elonia Farrow of Islesboro, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Manley Hart, returned home Saturday. Mrs. Hart accompanied her and will remain a few days. Rockland Star.

E. P. Frost is putting in thorough repair, with city water and other improvements, the two tenement houses on Bridge street formerly owned by his father, the late M. W. Frost.

The ladies of the North church and Society are earnestly requested to meet at Mrs. L. A. Knowlton's, Miller St., on Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, to discuss matters of importance.

The W. C. T. Alliance will meet with Mrs. E. H. Conant, Church street, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A full attendance is desired, as arrangements are to be made for the Sewing School.

Horace W. Pitcher accidentally fell from a grocery wagon on Commercial street Saturday and was severely shaken up. He is gradually improving, though still confined to the house. The accident was caused by the seat becoming loose.

The Maine Music Festival opened at Bangor Monday, with great prospects for the most successful occasion of the kind ever held in eastern Maine. Belfast is well represented, not only by its excellent chorus but by other music lovers.

The steamer Tremont, Capt. Ellis Gray, is taking the place of the Silver Star this week, while the latter is repairing in Bangor. The Tremont will next week take the place of the M. & M. while that boat is repairing on Gilchrist's marine railway.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new schooner in Pendleton Bros' yard. She will be planked and ceiled this week, and other lines of work are keeping well along. Mr. Gardner will begin work on the rigging next week. The vessel is named Pendleton Sisters.

The fall time-table of the Maine Central railroad will go into effect Oct. 7th. Trains on the Belfast branch will run about the same as last winter. Passenger trains will leave at 7.15 a. m. and 1.25 p. m., and arrive at 10.10 a. m. and 6.05 p. m. The mixed train will arrive at 1.05 p. m. and leave at 3.30 p. m.

A team was stolen from Cony's livery stable in Augusta last week and was traced to Belfast. It was learned here that he had traded horses with a local dealer and gone north. The horse and carriage were recovered here and the man was arrested in Clinton by the Augusta officers. He gives his name as Will Young.

Beginning with Oct. 1st the new four-trip-a-week arrangement of the Boston & Bangor Steamship line went into effect. For the rest of the season the City of Bangor will leave Belfast at 2.30 p. m. on Wednesdays and Saturdays, and the Penobscot will sail at the same time on Mondays and Thursdays.

For several years Mrs. Albert Gammans has had charge of the work of aiding needy school children, and helped very many to be in school who otherwise would have been unable to attend on account of insufficient clothing. Contributions of cast off clothing and money are solicited for this work, and may be left at Mrs. Gammans' residence on Church street, or, if more convenient, at the office of the Superintendent of Schools, to be forwarded to Mrs. Gammans.

A number of the friends of Mrs. Sarah Frye Boynton met at her home at the corner of Court and Miller streets Wednesday evening, Sept. 20th, to celebrate her eighty-first anniversary. The evening was very pleasantly spent in sociability and Mrs. Boynton was very pleasantly remembered by her friends in a substantial manner by numerous useful and ornamental gifts. Cake and fruit were served. The company separated with the best wishes for many added years of life and health to their hostess.

THE CHURCHES.

Rev. G. E. Edgett will preach at Poor's Mills next Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

Meetings will be held at the People's Mission in the Frye school house, Miller street, every Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. All are welcome.

Morning service at the Unitarian church next Sunday at 10.45 a. m., with sermon by the pastor, Rev. J. M. Leighton; Sunday school at 12 m.

At the Maine Baptist Young People's convention in Yarmouth Sept. 28th Mr. E. A. Kingley was chosen president, and Miss Maud E. Mathews of Belfast, corresponding secretary.

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Maine Missionary society held its 20th annual meeting in August Sept. 27th and chose officers for the ensuing year. Miss Carrie M. Cutter of Belfast is the vice president for Waldo county.

Services at Universalist church next Sunday will be as follows: At 10.45 a. m., regular service, preaching by the pastor; at 12 m., Sunday school; at 6.15 p. m., young people's meeting; topic, "Heroism." A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Following are the Baptist church notices: Thursday evening Scripture lesson, Acts 28: 1-15. Friday evening is the monthly church covenant meeting. Next Sunday the evening preaching service will be resumed, a gospel service with hearty praise.

The subject of Rev. G. E. Edgett's sermon at the Methodist church next Sunday morning will be "What is a Christian?" The pastor will begin next Sunday evening a series of Sunday evening lectures on "Immortal Hymns and Their Story," with special song services.

Rev. Geo. B. Hsley, D. D., who resigned several weeks ago as pastor of the Columbia street Baptist church, Bangor, has received and accepted a call to the pastorate of the Baptist church in Westbrook, and will begin his pastoral labors at once, preaching his first sermon the first Sunday in October.

Following are the Belfast delegates to the State Sunday School convention to be held in Dexter Oct. 16, 17 and 18: Methodist, Rev. G. E. Edgett, Mrs. G. G. Winslow, Miss Lena Sanborn; alternates, Misses Mary Jackson and Nettie Follett. Baptist, Rev. R. T. Capen, F. L. Robertson and Miss Susie Robertson.

The Methodist society held a "book social" at the vestry last Friday evening, with a large attendance. The titles of books were represented in a unique way, by the various members dressing and acting in pantomime to represent the titles. Grapes were served and the evening closed with a musical and literary entertainment in which a large number took part.

There will be the usual mid-week prayer meeting at the North church this, Thursday, evening at 7.30. Topic, "Wise and unwise benevolence." The pastor will give a report of the recent State conference at Augusta. The Sunday services will be as follows: Sermon by the pastor at 10.45 a. m. Sunday school at 12 m. C. E. meeting at 6.30 p. m. Topic, "Rich Toward God," Luke 12:13-21. Lecture by the pastor at 7.30 p. m.

The reports of the Maine Congregational Conference held in Augusta last week show that two churches have been added to the roll during the past year while two (Sweden and Topsfield) have been dropped from it. The additions to membership aggregate 73 and the removals 93, a net loss of 20. This is the largest decrease in a score of years. The Sunday school membership is 21,028, a loss of over 1,000. The financial statistics are as follows: 224 of 250 churches own church buildings valued at $1,545,670, a gain of ten churches reporting and of about $15,000 in value; 106 churches report parsonages valued at $194,750, a gain in four parsonages reported but a loss of $12,000 in valuation; 101 churches report the possession of $222,143 invested funds, a gain of about $25,000 over what 87 churches reported in 1899; 51 churches report indebtedness of $68,893, almost exactly the amount of liabilities reported by 41 churches five years ago; in salaries, 189 churches report a total of $137,541 paid.

The Baptist Anniversaries in Yarmouth last week were of much interest to members of that denomination throughout the State. The necrology shows the death of two ministers, one of whom, Rev. Robert A. Patten, was well known in this section, having served the churches in Appleton and West Camden. There have been 536 baptisms, a gain of 60 over the previous year. The total membership in the State is 19,871, a loss of 174 in the year. There were 76 baptisms in the Lincoln Association, while the membership of the Lincoln Association is 2,722, the largest association in the State. In benevolence there was a gain during the year of $1182. The Sunday schools show an enrollment of 15,222, a loss of 400 in the year. About 670 is the average of baptisms for the last ten years, and 574 for the last twenty years. The association plainly showed its opposition to resubmission. The Baptist Young People's Union elected Rev. R. W. Van Kirk vice president and Rev. W. E. Lombard of Camden recording Secretary. Rev. R. W. Van Kirk was also elected vice president of the Maine Baptist Charitable Association.

Gay Family Reunion.

The Gay Family held their fourth annual reunion at Frederick Ritchie Grange Hall, Waldo, Sept. 27, 1900. The whole number present was 47, including a few invited friends. The forenoon was spent in renewing acquaintances, greetings, and social intercourse. Dinner was called promptly at the noon hour, and the bounteous repast which was served showed that caring for the inner man is an art well known to the family.

In the afternoon the meeting was called to order by Pres. G. C. Levenseller. The record of the last meeting was read and accepted. The report of the historian was accepted and a vote of thanks passed for the effort made toward securing a complete history of the family. The following officers were chosen for the coming year: Pres., Elijah Gay; V. P., Mrs. Warren Johnson; Sec., Hettilla Harding; Treas., Warren Johnson; Historian, Jas. G. Harding. A letter of regret from Mrs. M. A. Hewes, Salem, Mass., was read by Mrs. Geo. Arrington and it was voted that the letter be placed on file with the records, and that the Secretary be instructed to reply for the association.

The following program, opening with music, was given: Recitation, Sadie Thomas; Recitation, Ruby Sprague; Reading, Jas. G. Harding; Recitation, Erma Thomas; Recitation, (by request) Ethel Staples; Recitation, Flora Johnson; Recitation, Chas. Levenseller; Recitation, Annabelle Johnson; Recitation, Hettilla Harding; Recitation, Sidney Johnson; Music, Annabelle Johnson.

Remarks were made by several of the members.

A vote of thanks was given to Frederick Ritchie Grange for the use of the hall, and also to visitors for assistance on program. The next meeting will be held the last Thursday in September, 1901. Closed with selections by the choir.

Papers and Periodicals.

The special trade edition of the Waterville Evening Mail, recently issued, was a fine piece of work, a credit to the publishers and to Waterville. It was profusely illustrated.

The September number of the Maine Central magazine is devoted to the hunting regions of Maine, New Brunswick and Newfoundland, and as usual it is beautifully illustrated.

The newspaper fraternity of the State will be pleased to learn of the improvement of Mr. M. E. Mudgett of the Bangor Commercial, who has been dangerously ill at Bar Harbor. Mr. Mudgett was able to return to his home in Bangor last week.

With last week's issue the Piscataquis Observer entered upon its 33d volume, and the editor, Liston P. Evans, leaving the paper to be estimated on its merits, speaks modestly of its success as a business enterprise. Nothing but good can be said of the Observer and its editor.

Every one who plays or sings, or who has musical friends, will take care to get a copy of next Sunday's Boston Journal. A special portfolio is to be made a part of that issue, containing twenty-four pages' entirely devoted to music. It is undoubtedly true that no newspaper has ever given free to its readers with one number so much music as this. Some papers give one piece with an issue, some incorporate one piece in the paper itself; next Sunday's Boston Journal is, however, to give a separate portfolio, twenty-four pages, to be devoted entirely to music.

Fish and Game Association.

A fish and game association was organized in Unity September 15, with a membership of 40. The following officers were elected: Dr. W. G. Fuller, president; W. H. Rolfe, treasurer; E. Donald Chase, secretary; W. G. Fuller, J. H. Steward, Unity; W. A. Erskine and G. B. Warner, Pittsfield; F. A. Porter and T. G. Bussey of Massachusetts; S. A. Sterling of Portland, and J. W. Sawyer of Fairfield, advisory committee. The association will have a screen placed at the outlet of Unity pond. It is reported that quite a number of large salmon have recently been located in Sandy stream, presumably on spawning beds.

Solon Says Horses Have "Riz."

[Solon Chase in Boston Sunday Herald.]
What's that aging 'ry? It was a horseless wagon, the first that ever passed through Brown's Corner, that caused Aunt Sarah to make this remark as she stepped to the door, with a broom in her hand.

After taking a look she answered her question in this wise: "A wagon going along in the road without any horse. What will come next?"

A young man and his wife were touring the countryside in a wagon without any horse.

Two years ago, at the State fair, the horseless wagon was there, but it was a slow coach, and a clumsy, unsmooth contrivance that went around the track about as fast as a traction engine in the West will haul a threshing machine along the highway from one farm to another. The show of the horseless wagon was so unsatisfactory that the people laughed the machine and the man in it off the track.

Since that time the horseless wagon has been improved, and the moving machine was improved, until it will go anywhere—go fast or go slow, along any decent road.

The man and his wife in the horseless wagon were in no hurry, and stopped to inquire the way and talk with the people who gathered around the wagon without any horse.

Aunt Sarah was one of the first to get there, and had a bunch of flowers, which she presented to the woman in the horseless wagon, and said: "When I was a girl I could ride horseback, but I never expected to see a man and his wife ride along in a wagon without any horse."

The young woman, alighted from the horseless wagon and asked Aunt Sarah to take her seat.

Aunt Sarah picked up a 3-year-old boy and stepped into the wagon. The machine moved slowly down the hill across the bridge, then gathered speed and went round a curve in the road, with Aunt Sarah's sunbonnet strings flying in the wind.

Aunt Sarah was delighted with her ride in the horseless wagon, and said: "I have been learning for 20 years to do my housework better and easier, and I make better white bread from year to year. The man who has learned to make a wagon go without any horse is working in my line."

Uncle Charles did not exactly agree with his wife's common-sense philosophy, but said: "The man who has learned to make a wagon go without any horse will kill the horse business."

Uncle Charles did not take into account the demand for horses for army service. Unless civilized Christian nations take a new departure and do away with each other, the demand for horses for warlike purposes will equal the supply. The demand for horses for cavalry, artillery and draught animals to sustain the present armaments of the great civilized countries in times of peace is immense. In time of war the slaughter of horses, army mules and "teamsters" is a horrible thing. The world's present armament is a millstone hanging around the neck of the world's civilization, and the great Christian nations must disarm or starve. As the great powers increase their armament, it doesn't take so much provocation to commence hostilities. Uncle Charles need have no fear that the horseless wagon will kill the "horse" business, while the great countries are engaged in the killing business, as they are at present.

Horses have "riz" and are rising. There is a scarcity of horses in the middle West for farm purposes, because of the demand for serviceable horses to engage in Christian warfare. Horses wear out fast in war; the wounded are left to die a lingering death. Dead men are buried after the battle and the wounded cared for, but the stench of dead horses pervades the battlefield until the scavengers of the battlefield—carrion birds—strip the flesh from the bones.

Providence, as though ashamed of man's inhumanity to man and to dumb animals, covers the world with a carpet of green and provides vultures to pick the flesh from the bodies of dead men and horses, but Christians do the killing. There is no hell here or hereafter that can compare with the Christian's hell on the battlefield.

Dumb animals—beasts of burden that are so useful in the arts of peace—are pressed into the military service to die of gunshot wounds, thirst and torture. Many horses die at sea on the passage to the seat of war. Sick horses die in camp, and military operations are often delayed waiting for remounts. If civilized countries who engage in the business of killing would leave dumb animals out of war would not be so cruel and needless. Without the aid of dumb animals Christians would not fight each other with such ferocity, and war would not last so long.

In our war with the Philippines many horses died, maimed and bruised on the passage, and were pitched overboard—food for the fishes. Many of the horses that survived the passage were unfit for service and soon died.

Many thousands of horses have been shipped from this country to South Africa, but so many have died on the passage or succumbed to the climate or to the ride of the Boer that Gen. Roberts has been much delayed, waiting for remounts. The activity in the killing business in civilized countries just now has increased the demand for serviceable horses so that the farmers of the middle West are breaking in wild horses from the plains of the far West to work their farms.

War in civilized countries brings wealth and fame to the few, but is hard on dumb animals and the many who do the fighting and pay the taxes.

The man who prefers the horseless wagon so that Aunt Sarah can ride to town and do her shopping and let the old mare stay in the barn is an evangelist. He not only carries the kingdom of heaven into Aunt Sarah's kitchen, but the old mare in Uncle Charles' barn enjoys religion.

Aunt Sarah is a mother in Israel, she ministers to the wants of the poor and needy and tells how God's blessings are showered alike upon the just and the unjust, and is a true housekeeper and good cook. Her white bread is famous the country round, and she gives lessons in cooking to young housekeepers. Summer visitors as they pass along the highway stop to admire Aunt Sarah's flower garden, and a step in the life of the old man who has lived a life of activity and progress, all the time reaching for better things, and has reached a high degree of excellence in her calling. She admires the order that reigns in her kitchen, her famous white bread and blooming flowers as steps to further progress. Aunt Sarah looks upon the horseless wagon as a step in the life of progress to be improved, as she had improved in the art of making white bread, and thereby, by the means of steam and lightning, lighten the burdens of the human race and of dumb animals.

Uncle Charles is a trig farmer—no twit grows in his corn. He uses his hired men well and barks the logs to the bunk so that the load will be easy for the horses to haul. In the sweet by and by the white winged angel of peace will hover over all of God's green earth, but not in Uncle Charles' day.

All the civilized countries that took part in the peace conference at the Hague are utilizing all the infernal mechanisms of human military ingenuity to make war more barbarous, more and more hellish. All the explosives that science has evolved from nature, and dumb animals, are brought in play so that Christians can kill other Christians faster and at longer range.

If there had been no gold in South Africa there would have been no war there, and the Boers would have lived their pastoral life in peace and plenty. After 2000 years of the Christian era the Christian's god is a golden idol. If gold was as plenty as iron and iron as scarce as gold what a misfortune it would be!

The Christian's greed for gold has increased the armament of civilized countries until "the man with the hoe" has the man with the gun strapped to his back and he can't shake him off. Perhaps this infernal slaughter of the human race and dumb animals will go on until "stagnation" humanity enough so that the great civilized countries will be left to disarm and pave the way for universal peace.

While civilized nations are so extensively engaged in the killing business and getting ready to kill faster and at longer range, it is no wonder there are riots and bloodshed among the people as seen in Europe and of late in this country in the southern States and in New York and Ohio. Unless civilized nations take a new departure, put down the gun and devote their energies to the arts of peace, the end will be universal demoralization.

Sch. American, Capt. Matthias Clausen, weighed off 200,000 pounds of fletched halibut as the result of her recent trip, stocking $11,598.55, the high line share being $290.67 and the average share being $280.67.

Sch. Edward S. Eveleth, Capt. John Marshall, weighed off 68,405 pounds of fletched halibut, 3,000 pounds of codfish, and 60 barrels of halibut fins as the result of her recent trip, stocking $8,728.32, the crew sharing $251.47. The Eveleth was the last but one of the fleet to get away last spring, and has made a fine share off her stock.

Sch. Nereid, Capt. Thomas Somers, stocked $1,700 as the result of her recent shuck trip, the crew sharing $250.

Sch. Joseph Rowe, Capt. Clayton Morrissey, stocked $3,000 as the result of her recent shore trip, the crew sharing $97.50.

This is the largest stock and share made in the shuck fishery this year, and shows that Capt. Morrissey is keeping up his big record as an "shucker."

The sch. Titania, Capt. Martin Welch, stocked $4,450 as the result of her recent big seining trip, the crew sharing $116, one of the best shares of the season. [Cape Ann Advertiser.]

Boer War Nearly Over.
LONDON, Sept. 26. The Daily Mail has the following despatch from Lorenzo Marques:

"Heavy fighting is reported across the Sabi River. This means that the British are intercepting Steyn and Reitz, who, with their forces, are attempting to push northward and to effect a junction.

"A commando is said to be surrounded near Pietersburg."
"The war is completely ended," says the Lorenzo Marques correspondent of the Daily Telegraph. "Many guns have been destroyed and hundreds of wagons and thousands of tons of stores of every description have been burned. Burning wreckage lies in every direction in the Hector Smith district."

"Any good police force of 20,000 men can effect the complete pacification of the country. It will be impossible for the Boers in future to mass a force exceeding 150. They are sick of the war, and the Irish-Americans and other mercenaries are clamoring for payment and threatening the Boer officials."

The Fate of the Confederate Seal.
"The result of the last Confederate council of war held at Abbeville, South Carolina, in May, 1865, was soon known all over Abbeville, and the Generals and the Secretary of War were kept busy for hours signing honorable discharges for the tired soldiers, who immediately applied for them," writes Mrs. Thaddeus Horton, in the October Ladies' Home Journal.

"During the evening Mr. Benjamin asked for a hatchet, and with it he defaced the Confederate seal. About twelve o'clock the same night the Confederate party continued their retreat in the direction of Washington, Georgia, and while crossing the Savannah River in the darkness they burned one of the boats that had been thrown overboard. This idea was at once approved, and when the boat reaching mid-stream it was dropped with a dull splash into the sandy river bed of that beautiful Southern watercourse, where to this day, its mission all fulfilled, it serenely rests."

Severe Storm at Nome.

SEATTLE, WASH., Sept. 25. The steamer Roanoke brings news of a disastrous storm at Nome. It raged with unusual violence for nearly two days up to the evening of September 13, and was the severest that ever visited western Alaska. A number of barges and lighters were driven ashore and wrecked.

All along the beach for miles, both east and west of Nome, the wind and water have been havoc with tents and mining machinery. A number of lives are believed to have been lost. It is known that Andrew A. Ryan of Los Angeles was drowned. Several captains and seamen on small tugs are missing, and it is thought they are lost.

Fifty 500 people are homeless, while the loss in buildings and supplies is over a half million dollars.

The heaviest individual losers are probably the Alaskan Commercial Co., and Wild Goose Mining and Trading Co. A serious loss is the disappearance of over 2,000 tons of coal.

THE REVOLUTION AT FOUR CORNERS.

Mrs. Hignutt leaned over the fence and peered down the street. The light from the kerosene street lamps cut through the sharp spring light in irregular beams, and the odor of freshly turned ground came to the nostrils, as a passerby trod heavily beside her. Mrs. Hignutt gave a startled jump that brought her back to the fence.

THE UNITED STATES TREASURY.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29. The Treasury was never in a stronger position than at the present time, both in its relations to the money market and in its resources for meeting expenses. The wise and far-sighted measures of Secretary Gage have put back into the market much money which would otherwise have been locked up in the Treasury surplus. This will give greater facilities for obtaining funds for moving the crops than have been witnessed for many years.

The gold in the Treasury is near the highest point ever attained in the history of the country. This point was reached in August, when the combined gold held by the Treasury on government account and that held against gold certificates was $435,000,000. The amount held on government account on Monday, Sept. 10, was $218,381,927, and the amount held against gold certificates in circulation was $216,618,073, making a total gold fund in the Treasury of about $435,000,000.

When to this amount is added the $179,291,900 in specie in New York Clearing House banks on September 8, there is a visible gold fund in these two centres alone of nearly $600,000,000. A part of the gold held by the New York banks is in Treasury gold certificates, but the allowance for them would impair only slightly the total gold holdings in Washington and New York, and would be offset many times by the fund of gold in the banks, in circulation and in private hands outside of these centres.

It became evident with the close of the Spanish war that the liberal provision made by Congress for carrying on the war by loans and the increase of taxation would soon accumulate a large surplus in the Treasury. It was not thought prudent to reduce taxation until it became more clear what contribution would be made by the new dependencies toward the war expenses, or what charge might fall for a time upon the Federal Treasury while arrangements for self-government were being made.

Secretary Gage soon perfected a series of important measures by which the surplus was kept under control and money released for the use of the people in moving the crops and carrying on production instead of permitting its congestion in the Treasury. One of his first steps was to resume the issue of gold certificates, which was suspended by Secretary Carlisle in 1893 when the gold reserve dropped below $100,000,000. The issue of certificates did not affect directly the volume of money, but afforded great relief to the market, because it enabled the public to get the use of convenient paper currency in place of gold coin.

Several other steps were taken which more directly diminished the idle funds in the Treasury and put them to use among the people. One of these was the purchase of four and five per cent. bonds in the autumn of 1899, to the amount of $10,000,000. The amount of currency released in paying for them, including the premiums, was $21,771,867. Then came the refunding law, which was largely the work of Secretary Gage, under which he was authorized to anticipate out of the present surplus the future interest payments upon the public debt by issuing two per cent. bonds in the autumn of 1899, to the amount of $10,000,000. The amount of currency released in paying for them, including the premiums, was $21,771,867.

Pain
Rheumatic
Sciatic or Neuralgic

Pain is a symptom, not a disease; what you must fight is not the pain but its cause. Liniments and oils for external application are almost worse than useless. Internal treatment is necessary to overcome the cause. The blood must be purified and the nerves strengthened.

There is one remedy that has been successfully employed in thousands of cases—
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People

Rheumatism is a disease of the blood; Neuralgia is the prayer of a nerve for food; Sciatica is but rheumatism under another name. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People cure these troubles by attacking the disease in the blood and driving it out. Proofs as to their efficacy are found in thousands of testimonials from grateful people who have been cured.

been steadily directed to keeping the Treasury in the impregnable position which will ensure public confidence, employing the surplus as far as good judgment permits in the reduction of the public debt, and putting the remainder at the disposal of the money market for the encouragement of ample funds and low interest rates in the conduct of the present great volume of business in the United States.

CHARLES A. CONANT.
Freights of the Galveston Storm.

A dispatch to the Dallas News says: "It is likely that the first death caused by the storm was that of a negro child, which was blown out of a house on Twenty-first street, near Avenue X, and drowned about 11 o'clock Saturday."

In a wooden bathtub Mrs. Chapman Bailey and Miss Hattie Kennedy were carried out to the Gulf, where they spent Saturday night. Not till the next morning did the tide bring them back to where the rescuing parties could reach them. Neither of them has a relative in Galveston left alive.

One of the experiences of the storm, was that of Mrs. Reine Stanton of Houston, who, with her father and a younger sister, was camping on her farm, two and a half miles from Leticia. The house rolled for a distance of 200 yards and then collapsed. The girls were rescued several hours later in an unconscious condition, but though quite seriously injured, they are improving. All the buildings on the place were wrecked.

A Galveston special to the Chicago Times-Herald says: "Ray Ayers, an 8-year-old boy, unwittingly rescued his sister's two babies during the flood. He was floating on a raft in Galveston when he passed a box with the two children in it. He seized them, but the weight was too heavy for his raft, and so he placed them on two bales of hay on top of a floating shed. When he found his sister he learned that her children were lost, and when a searching party discovered them they were still sleeping, unconscious of their danger."

A Galveston special to the Chicago Times-Herald says: "The Labett family of Galveston lost four generations of its members in the flood. One of the young Labetts, the only member of the family who escaped, was found after the water had subsided at his home, trying to escape with his bare hands graves in the sand for his father, mother and sisters."

Pete J. Brophy, day police clerk, is laid up at the Tremont House with bruises which he suffered during the night of the storm, says the Houston Post. His father and mother were lost. He was all at the home of George W. Cleveland at the southeast corner of Avenue Q and Twenty-seventh street, Galveston, and Mr. Brophy was the only survivor out of a party of nearly one hundred.

That remarkable gelding, The Abbot, which has been showing whirlwind speed all summer, Sept. 25th won the trotting record held for six years, by Alx. Alx went a mile at Galesburg, Ill., in 1:54 in 2:34. The Abbot at Terre Haute turned the track in 2:03 1/4. It is a far cry back to Florio's gelding, whole mile in 2:19 3/4 in 1899 seemed a marvellous performance, but since then, with higher breeding, more skilful training and advancement in sulky making and other aids to greater speed, the record has been slowly cut down. Maud S. started the world with her 2:08 3/4 in 1885, and nine years later Alx reduced that figure by five seconds.

For six years the Alx record has stood all attempts to lower it. No trotter has appeared, save The Abbot, whose performances seemed even to put the record in danger. The Abbot himself has been driven frequently against time. He lowered the record to wagon at the Hartford meeting and attempted to get close to the Alx figure on the Empire City track. At that time he was only able to do 2:04. In that test he showed remarkable speed in the middle half. In his performance Tuesday his greatest speed was developed in the middle half, which he suffered first, and then.

After this performance why should not the two minute trotter be looked for at no very distant day? [N. Y. Herald.]

Pill Sense.—It stands to reason that Dr. Agnew's Little Liver Pills will crowd out of the market many of the nauseous old-timers. A better medicine at less than half the price is all the argument needed to keep the demand what it has been—phenomenal—dozes to cents. They cure Sick Headache, Biliousness, and all stomach ailments. Sold by Edmund Wilson and A. A. Howes & Co.—3.

The policy of Secretary Gage has been steadily directed to keeping the Treasury in the impregnable position which will ensure public confidence, employing the surplus as far as good judgment permits in the reduction of the public debt, and putting the remainder at the disposal of the money market for the encouragement of ample funds and low interest rates in the conduct of the present great volume of business in the United States.

THE REPUBLICAN JOURNAL

...AND...

ARMAND HOME

THE BEST FARM AND FAMILY PAPER IN THE UNITED STATES.

Believing that every one of our readers should have at least one good agricultural and family journal, we have perfected arrangements whereby we can send that practical and instructive journal, Farm and Home, in connection with The Republican Journal on remarkably liberal terms as given below. Lack of space forbids but a brief description of the contents of Farm and Home which is unequalled for variety and excellence. Prominent among its many departments may be mentioned: The Farm and Garden, Market Reports, Fruit Culture, Plants and Inventions, The Apiary, Talks with a Lawyer, Around the Globe, Live Stock and Dairy, The Poultry Yard, The Question Box, Plants and Flowers, The Veterinary, Fashions and Fancy Work, Household Features.

Farm and Home is published semi-monthly, this giving you 24 numbers a year, the whole making a volume of over 500 pages, brimming with all the latest and most reliable information that experience and science can supply.

By special arrangement we make for a limited time the following liberal offer:

To all who may for The Republican Journal on Year in Advance, $2.00, Farm and Home will be sent for one year free. The regular subscription for Farm and Home is 50 cents a year.

Notice of Foreclosure.

Whereas, Evelyn A. White of Seabrook, in the County of Waldo, by her mortgage, dated July 8, 1898, and recorded in Waldo Registry of Deeds, Book 252, Page 244, conveyed to George L. Clouston of said Seabrook, a certain parcel of land situated in said Seabrook, and described as follows, to wit: bounded north by Cross street, east by Haverhill lot and land of Wallace, south by Penobscot Bay, and west by Norris street, 17th of August, A. D. 1900, for a valuable consideration, the said George L. Clouston sold and assigned said mortgage and the debt thereby secured, to the undersigned, who thereby became the legal owner and holder of said mortgage, and the debt thereby secured, and assignment being recorded in said Registry of Deeds, Vol. 252, Page 246, and whereas the condition of said mortgage has been broken, now therefore, by reason of the breach of the condition thereof, I claim a foreclosure of said mortgage.

Signed, September 25, 1900. JOHN CLOSSON.

FARMERS!

ARE YOU INSURED?

July and August are the great lightning months. Most farm property is destroyed at this season because of lightning than by all other causes. I make a specialty of insuring farm property against any loss or damage by lightning or fire, and make a postal and I will give you a plan and tell you all about it.

E. S. Upham and wife of Saugus, Mass., are at S. A. Stevens'.

Major James N. Fowler of Bucksport was in town last week.

Mrs. W. M. Parse is visiting her sister, Mrs. Cecil Paine, at Bath.

Will Rice left last Friday to accept a position in Medford, Mass.

Miss Maude and Julia Brown returned from a visit to Boston Sunday.

Irving Pendleton has gone to New York to enter Tufts Dental College.

Mrs. Flora Flanders of Rockland is visiting her father, F. W. Porter.

Mrs. Susan Bunker returned from a visit to friends in Brewer Monday.

Miss Margaret B. Sargent left for Boston Friday to buy her stock of full millinery.

Mrs. Fanny Palmer and daughters returned to their home in Manchester, Conn., Friday.

Will Dix, who made the voyage to China in ship William H. Comer, arrived home last week.

S. L. Lizzie Lane made a harbor here last Friday, lumber laden, from Bangor for New York.

Benjamin Mudgett, who has leased the Central house at Unity, was in town a few days the past week.

Mrs. Margaret Logan, after a four weeks' stay with friends here, returned to her home in Philadelphia Friday.

Frank Morrow was taken to the hospital at Bangor by steamer Penobscot Wednesday morning for medical treatment.

Mrs. Ellen Wales of Lynn, Mass., who has been visiting her brother, Chas. F. Fowler, returned to her home Monday.

The milk dealers advanced the price of milk twenty percent Oct. 1st. The price now is six cents per quart instead of five.

T. T. Merrill & Son are making extensive repairs to the front of their mill. The work is being done in a very substantial manner.

Some of the veterans are making preparations to meet with the Waldo County Veteran Association at Brooks to-day, Thursday.

Master J. C. Dutch has been engaged to superintend a crew in the construction of a steamer at Port Clyde and will begin work at once.

The tinkers are still plentiful in the bay, though of small size. Catches as high as two and three hundred at a tide are reported.

Dr. F. W. Larabee has bought from C. O. Sawyer & Co. the stable at the head of Bay View street, and has employed John Stewart of Belfast to move it to his lot.

Our fishermen at Swan Lake have not been as successful in taking trout this year as in former seasons. Experts claim that this is due to the prevailing warm weather.

The regular weekly meetings of the Grand Army Post have been resumed and it is intended to make them as interesting as last year, when comrades come seven and eight miles to be present.

John Kane, who has been visiting his father and mother, has come to Boston, and after a week's stay there will return to Chicago to resume his position as night clerk at the McCoy hotel.

Dr. E. Hopkins, wife and daughter, returned from a visit to friends in Carmel Monday. The doctor says he never drove on the road when it was so pleasant as on the homeward trip. There was no dust, no mud, and the weather was everything that could be desired.

E. L. Savory, who has taken a contract to clear the land bought by the Leland on a small island west of Islesboro, came near being lost while transporting the grain and implements required by his teams. The boat swamped and they lost everything, considering themselves fortunate in escaping with their lives.

We have been shown a curiosity in the way of an apple picked from a tree in the James A. Colson orchard. It is six apples growing from one stem, all joined in a similar manner to the Siamese twins.

The curiosity has been examined by scores of our citizens and no one has been found to give a reason for this curious growth.

Sears Lodge, I. O. O. F., gave a very interesting reception at their regular meeting last Friday evening in honor of Past Grand John Kane, now of Columbia Lodge, Chicago. Mr. Kane was one of the original charter members of Sears Lodge, was the first warden of the lodge, and filled the position with great credit to himself and the lodge.

The fall conference of the Waldo County Congregational churches will meet with the church here next Tuesday. There will be only one day session with meetings morning, afternoon and evening. Mrs. James G. Pendleton, Mrs. B. O. Sargent, Mrs. Frank Colcord, Mrs. Harburt, Miss Janet Rice and Miss Fastnet Erskine are the committee on entertainment.

Warren Carr of Bath, while spending a vacation here, took a stroll around the western shore and finding a beer bottle on the beach he took a slip of paper from his pocket and wrote a little note, requesting the finder to notify him, giving the address of his home in Bath. Within less than a week he received an account that the bottle had been picked up on Long Island, across the bay near Gilkey's harbor light, by Harold Maker, who gave him his address Medford, Mass., and who had been spending the summer at Islesboro.

OBITUARY. Letters were received here, Sept. 21st announcing the death of Melvina, wife of Wm. R. Porter, at West Side, Santa Clara Co., California. Mrs. Porter was the only child of the late Capt. John Pendleton, who was lost at sea many years ago, and will be most pleasantly remembered by a large circle of friends here where she resided a large part of her life. She was of a very genial, unselfish nature, and possessed many engaging qualities, which endeared her to all who knew her, and her cheerful, refreshing presence will be sadly missed by many. Last March she was rendered partially helpless by a slight stroke of paralysis, but as she rapidly recovered her strength her friends were encouraged to hope for full restoration, but on the morning of Sept. 12th a second attack came, from which she never rallied sufficiently to regain consciousness, and passed away peacefully on the following morning. The funeral services, of which a full account has been received here, were held Sunday, Sept. 16th, at the little church of which she was a regular and constant attendant. She was a faithful member of a large circle of "Kings Daughters," where the influence of her ever ready heart and hand was keenly appreciated. Every evidence of high esteem was shown by the large attendance and numerous floral tributes. Of her immediate family, her husband, adopted daughter and her mother, now the widow of the late Capt. Daniel Henry Blake, three brothers and two sisters, survive her, and have the sympathy of all friends residing here, at this time of sorrow and bereavement.

COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE.

BUCKSPORT. Harrison Carr, 80 years of age, and prominent in town affairs, took his life by drowning in the Penobscot river, during last Saturday night. He had been ill and presumably his mind had become affected.

BELMONT. John H. Flagg of Worcester, Mass., who has been in town visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Flagg, returned Saturday. He was accompanied by his sister, Miss Lizzie M. Flagg, who has employment in a watch factory. Scott Bowman of Sidney was in town last week on business. Joseph Nichols is repairing his barn. Lend a Hand Circle, Order of King's Daughters and Sons, will meet Sunday, Oct. 7th, with Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Hills, Belfast. All not members of the order are cordially invited to attend.

SEASPORT. Mr. L. C. Poor, Miss Alice Poor and Miss Bacon attended the teachers' convention in Brooks, Sept. 28th. The contest in Victor Grange closed last Wednesday evening. The result has not been declared. Forty-seven members have been enrolled during the contest. Rev. W. C. Baker of South Thomaston is enjoying an outing at Lake Umbagog. Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Simmons have returned from Boston with a full line of fall and winter goods. Miss Lizzie Maddocks visited her sister in Union last week.

FREEDOM. Dr. Barrell, a graduate from Bowdoin Medical College, class of 1900, is in town, stopping at the Lake House. Quite a number of young people from this place attended the teachers' convention in Brooks last Friday and Saturday. Miss Fannie Williams is teaching at Centre Montville this fall. L. D. Jones, Esq., was in Belfast during court week. Miss Benson, who has been visiting relatives in town, returned to her home in Camden Friday. Mrs. Nora Banton returned home Sept. 26th after a pleasant visit to friends in Massachusetts.

Mr. Knowles Bangs has moved his family into the Wescott rent. Chas. Sampson was in Boston on business this week.

DENTON. Frank L. Marcia and Miss Eva S. Boudry, both of Denon, were married Wednesday night, Sept. 26th, at the Methodist parsonage in Clinton by Rev. A. L. Hanson. On the same evening Ervin Wood and Miss Edna Fish of Denon Falls were married. A drowning accident occurred about two miles from East Denon, Friday evening, when the young son of Walter Estes lost his life by falling from a bridge which crosses Maple Brook near the home of his father. The body was recovered two hours later. It was with considerable difficulty that the mother was prevented from plunging herself into the stream, so great was her grief.

SWANVILLE. Rev. S. A. Abbott of Watcom, Washington, delivered a very spirited sermon here last Sunday. Rev. H. W. Norton of Seaboard has an appointment here next Sunday at 2:30 p. m. Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Nickerson have returned from a visit to Boston and vicinity. The ladies are keeping our new dressmaker, Mrs. A. E. Brown, very busy and she is giving excellent satisfaction. Miss Mary Mudgett of Seaboard is keeping house for Hon. A. E. Nickerson.

Our school superintendent, A. T. Nickerson, attended the teachers' convention in Brooks last week. Capt. Nehemiah Smart is having his buildings repaired. Mr. H. O. Cunningham hooked a salmon from Swan Lake last week which weighed 75 lbs. We believe it is the largest one ever taken from these waters. Mr. Trask of Newburg paid his annual visit to the town Monday with a load of cabbages and squash.

MORRILL. Quite a number of our school teachers attended the convention in Brooks last Friday. Among the number were Misses Olive A. Blood, Maud L. Knowlton, Nellie Green and Sabina Morey. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mears went to Waltham, Mass., the first of this week, to attend the wedding of their son, Carl A., to Miss Mae Stowell of Waltham. Mrs. Abby Philbrick of the Head of the Tide and Mrs. Adeline Labalister of Old Town are guests at J. R. Mears and will keep house during their absence. Mr. A. F. Bowen and daughter of Belfast visited relatives in town last Sunday.

Mrs. Carter Keene of Washington, D. C., was the guest of Mrs. Estelle Haley last week. Mr. Will Wing from Massachusetts is visiting relatives in town. Mrs. Nellie B. Hatch and Mrs. J. N. Pearson attended the Baptist State Association meeting in Yarmouth last week. We have several severe cases of sickness in town, viz: Alexander Dumble, Russell Gray, B. C. Daggett, Ephraim Vick and Amos Jackson. Mr. John F. Rieker has his new steam mill running, with a full crew of men. Rev. H. W. Abbott will preach here next Sunday.

PROSPECT. The local apple crop is a good one, but the last gale blew down many that will be of no use. Some have tried the Boston market with a few barrels and the returns did not pay expenses. The election passed off here very quietly, but Mr. Manley's proclamation brought out hard talk with a few. A tax reform that will bear on all values alike is what hurts some; but it is business all the same. The Newburg man with garden truck made his first trip along the bay and river last week; and we have got over a part of our territory and will be along this week to our old customers everywhere, with all kinds of garden truck. Among the singular things noticed on our route last week was effects of a freak of lightning some time ago. The lightning struck in the middle of a patch of squash vines and made a general havoc on the soil over the piece. The lightning ran out on every vine, scorching and killing all. This was at Mr. George Wescott's place on the road to the Ferry in Prospect. On our route we fell in with one of the old Centre scholars who has returned to Prospect to live with her daughter after these many years. She was formerly Nancy Perkins and her father and mother, Capt. and Mrs. John Perkins, lived where is now the old cellar on which the William Goodell house stands. So far as we have been there is a small gain in population in Prospect. Some have moved into town and more than usual are at home among the sea-going class. Among the new-comers is a Mr. Berry from Quincy, Mass., and Dan Emerson and his two brothers from Blue Hill, with a number more to start a smoke in the vacant houses.

Quality

It is the high quality of Royal Baking Powder that has established its great and world-wide reputation.

Every housewife knows she can rely upon it; that it makes the bread and biscuit more delicious and wholesome—always the finest that can be baked.

It is economy and every way better to use the Royal, whose work is always certain, never experimental.

There are many imitation baking powders, made from alum. They may cost less per pound, but their use is at the cost of health.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 100 WILLIAM ST., NEW YORK.

PROSPECT VILLAGE. The members of South Branch Grange, No. 142, met at their hall, Sept. 27th, and passed their dining room. All are anticipating a visit to Frankfort's new grange. Miss Emmie Marden is at Mt. Katahdin Iron works, at the Silver Lake Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Wood of Dorchester, Mass., and Mr. Chas. Wood and family of Orrington visited at Mrs. Ellie Ward's and Mr. S. S. Wood's recently. Mr. I. Curtis of Camden was the guest of Miss Ora Libby last week. Mr. and Mrs. John Jenison of Waltham are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dockham. Mr. Frank Gould is in Boston visiting his son Horace, who is to leave Oct. 2nd for Michigan, where he is to attend college the coming winter. Mr. Gould will visit his daughter and family in New Boston, N. H., before returning; also friends in Lynn, Mass. Mr. Edgar Williams of Malden, Mass., Mrs. Agnew Phillips of Roxbury, Mass., Miss Mattie Cross of Morrill and Mr. L. Sargent of Belfast were here visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Littlefield, have all returned home. Misses Grace and Ella Partridge of Belfast, with friends, spent Sunday with their mother Mrs. F. Gould.

NORTH TROY. Mrs. Hester A. Smart is having the interior of her house improved considerably. W. L. Gray has received the appointment of Deputy Sheriff. The next meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of the President, Mrs. Abbie Newell, Oct. 9th. Mr. William Whitney and wife of Pittsfield, visited relatives in town last week. Mrs. M. F. Hammond of Albion, accompanied by her uncle, David Hammond of Everett, Mass., called on friends and relatives in town Wednesday. Mrs. Josie Rhoades is suffering from a very serious form of heart trouble. Dr. J. E. Cook of Unity is attending her. Perry Martin of Pittsfield visited friends in town Sunday. Luville Sanderson is on the sick list. Dr. Dodge was called Sunday. Mr. Howard Snow and wife of Burnham were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Rhoades Sunday. Miss George Jackson gave a highly enjoyable birthday party Sept. 26th, entertaining in a very pleasant manner the following: Blanche Myrick, Addie May Glover, Lucy Rackliffe, Edwina Garcelon, Izah Sanderson, Edith Coffin, and Rosamond Woods. Candy, nuts, apples and delicious pears were served, and with singing and music a general good time was enjoyed.

STOCKTON SPRINGS. Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Pierce and Mr. Chas. Bagley returned Sept. 25th from their carriage trip to the Kennebec. Mrs. G. A. Stevens returned the middle of last week from a visit to her father in Burnham. James H. Griffin of North Adams, Mass., arrived Sept. 26th for a week's visit to his mother, Mrs. Edward Harriman. All are glad to welcome him in his home again. Miss Melvina Patterson left Friday for her home in Washington, D. C., accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Elmira Patterson, who will spend the winter with her. Mrs. P. is a well preserved lady, who says she expects to see the second inauguration of McKinley, she having witnessed his first one and enjoyed the ceremony. They took with them as far as Boston little Miss Pauline Griffin, who has been spending the summer with her grandparents, Capt. and Mrs. F. A. Patterson. Mrs. Fannie Roberts left Friday to visit in Abion and Unity before returning to Boston. Dr. H. B. Devereaux and sister, Mrs. Phineas Griffin, and babe, and Mr. Chas. Bagley, left on Friday's boat for their homes in Cambridge and Boston. Dr. E. A. Wilson of Belfast was in town Thursday and Saturday for the second and third consultation with Dr. Stevens on the case of Mrs. James Treat, who is still in a dangerous condition. Her daughter, Mrs. Brainard Griffin of St. Paul, Minn., arrived Monday evening, called here by her mother's illness. Henry Stowell has been quite ill for several days. Walter Trundy is at home from Belfast. Mrs. Wheelend of Orrington and two grandchildren, who spent the past week with her sister, Mrs. Sarah Clifford, returned to her home Saturday. Mrs. Daniel Lancaster of Monroe is visiting Mrs. Henry Stowell. Capt. Ralph Morse arrived by train Saturday evening and will remain at home for some time, having put another captain in command of his vessel. Mrs. Emily Richardson, who has spent the past week with Mrs. C. S. Rendell, returned to her home in Bucksport Sunday. Miss Mary Hichborn left Monday to visit her uncle, John Littlefield of Brewer, and attend the Music Festival in Bangor. Mrs. E. M. Lancaster and Miss Gertrude Pendleton left for Bangor Monday, where they will visit the former's aunt, Mrs. Josephine Metcalf.

PROSPECT FERRY. Mrs. Louise Grindle of Penobscot is visiting her sister, Mrs. Harriet Perkins. Miss Martha E. Harriman spent last Sunday at her old home, returning to Old Town Monday. Mrs. Lily Brown of Lynn, Mass., visited her sister, Mrs. Vina Harriman last week. W. D. Harriman, who was reported ill with typhoid fever last week, is on the mending hand.

ISLESBORO. Our summer visitors have nearly all departed for the season. Among the last to leave were J. R. Brackett of Baltimore; J. T. Attebury of New York; Dexter Tiffany of St. Louis; Dr. Geo. Shattuck of Boston; Rev. Dr. Leighton Parks of Boston; Miss Rose Cleveland of Princeton, N. J.; E. H. Hardy of Boston; Miss Ames, daughter of Ex-Governor Ames of Boston; Dr. J. Wilmer Biddle of Philadelphia; B. C. Riggs of Boston; Dr. Wm. H. Draper, Jr., and Dr. Wm. H. Draper, Jr., and Dr. F. C. Shattuck of New York.

CENTRE MONTVILLE. Alonzo Poland and wife are visiting relatives in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Hampshire. O. H. Clement and family are to move to Camden soon. Robert Foye shot a bird a few days since, supposing it to be a partridge, and picked it up while it was fluttering, and it immediately carved its initials on Rob's hands with its talons. It was a hawk. M. C. Gordon and wife were in Knox last week. B. C. Sleeper and wife of South Thomaston were in town recently. Ernest Foye went to Belfast on his wheel last week to visit relatives. John Myrick and family of Belfast were in town a few days since. Miss Lizzie Messer of South Union is at S. J. Tasker's. Miss Eva Sprague of Belfast is visiting at V. Thompson's. Mrs. Lucy Wentworth is in Pittsfield with her son, J. W. Wentworth. Mrs. E. L. Bennett is at home from Middle-town, Conn.

THORNDIKE. Rev. W. A. Luce of Unity will lecture at Harvest Moon Grange hall Saturday afternoon, Oct. 6th, at 2 o'clock. All are cordially invited to attend. Rev. Clement Jones of Unity will preach at the Centre church next Sunday. Mrs. Sarah Gross and her brother, Chester Dexter of Bangor, were guests of Burton Gross and wife last week. Mrs. Mabel Cilley and son passed Sept. 25th with friends in Jackson. Mrs. J. G. Cilley visited friends in Frankfort last week. V. N. Higgins and wife had a pleasant call from Willard Parsons of Concord, Mass., last Friday. Joseph Hubbard, who has been passing the summer with J. H. Stevens, returned to his home in Lawrence, Mass., last Saturday. Mrs. Charity Walker, who has been passing the summer with friends in Belfast and Stockton, has returned to her home. Mrs. Annie Cole is in Hamden for a few weeks. Mrs. Cora Cole and children visited Mrs. Rebecca Files last Thursday. V. N. Higgins passed Tuesday at Windermere Park. Mrs. Fred Patterson is quite sick. Dr. Cook of Brooks is attending her. Farmers in this vicinity are busy filling their silos. Bethel Lodge of Good Templars will have a five cent social at their hall Tuesday evening, Oct. 9th. Harvest Moon Grange will observe the 20th anniversary of its organization Nov. 13th. Fred Hunt of Unity was in town Monday canvassing for fruit trees.

APPLETON. Rev. Geo. Jenkins and Miss Lottie Young attended the Maine Baptist State Convention held last week in Yarmouth. James Fuller, who bought the farm and buildings at the Ridge formerly owned by the Sideling heirs, will move the house on to a foundation now being constructed on the Fuller place. The barn on the Sideling place was wrecked in the hurricane last spring. Walter E. Sprague and family, who have been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Sprague, have returned to their home in Roxbury, Mass. Mrs. W. F. Sprague has returned to Roxbury, Mass. Mrs. Hadley of Union and Mrs. Maude Trask of Bangor were recently guests of Mrs. S. H. Page. Frank Bryant has returned from Bridgewater, Mass., where he has had employment at the Insane Asylum. Our schools in the village did not keep Wednesday and Thursday, giving the teachers and pupils an opportunity to attend the North Knox Fair in Union. Mr. V. O. Keller was in Rockland last week as a witness before Ephraim G. Simmons versus Leonard Worthing, on trial for trespass. Mrs. Arthur Sprague and son Willard of Kalamazoo, Mich., called on friends here Sunday.

WINTERPORT. Austin P. West met with an accident last Monday evening. He and his housekeeper, Miss Martha Hall were driving, when at the head of York hill the horse started and ran, throwing the two out, breaking Mr. West's collar bone and injuring him internally. He is now in a critical condition. Miss Hall's wrist was broken. F. W. Nealley telegraphed Tuesday to Mr. West's son, C. A. West in Dorchester, Mass., to come immediately, and he was expected to arrive Wednesday morning.

HALLEDALE. The one hundredth anniversary of the Baptist church in Knox will be observed by appropriate exercises Oct. 13th and 14th. Speakers from abroad are expected. All are cordially invited to attend. Mrs. C. M. Clement, Mrs. C. A. and Mrs. Fred Foster, returned to their homes in Lowell, Mass., last week. Mrs. John Colby is very sick with bilious fever. Fred A. Myrick and family went to Cherryfield last Saturday to spend the winter. Mrs. C. L. Wright of Belfast was called here last week by the sickness of her mother, Mrs. Ellen Colby. G. W. Poland of New Harbor visited friends here last week.

PALEMON. A tramp made a short call at several places last week, asking for matches and food. Wednesday night he broke into the house of George Crommett at Branch Mills, by a back window. Mr. Crommett met him with a lamp and asked him what he wanted. He said he wanted a match, and asked who lived there. Mr. Crommett said he did. The tramp said he had got into the wrong house, and went out by way of the door. He told several people that he lived in Belfast. Messrs. Littlefield and Toothaker of Belfast were in town last week with their ensilage cutter and cut the corn and filled the silos of Wilder Young and John Black. Fred Spratt gave his house a new coat of paint last week.

NORTHPORT. The Women's Christian Temperance Union have elected the following officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. Sarah Orent; secretary, Mrs. Nellie M. Dickey; treasurer, Mrs. Lucy Rhoades; vice presidents, Mrs. Rachel Herrick, Mrs. C. H. Bryant, Mrs. Cleone Whitmore.

Knights; social purity, Mrs. Melissa Woodbury; flower mission, Mrs. William Weston; peace and arbitration and press superintendent, Mrs. Nellie M. Dickey. F. P. Reed of Glen Ridge, N. J., who has spent the past twenty-five summers at Saturday Cove, left on Saturday on his way home.

NORTH STOCKTON SPRINGS. Mrs. Annie Breed and daughter Mabel of Lynn, Mass., are visiting Mrs. Breed's sister, Mrs. Melvina Crockett. Miss Mattie Littlefield has returned from Dark Harbor and Miss Jessie Marden from Seal Harbor, where they were employed during the summer. James Clegg of Frankfort visited friends here recently. Edwin Jacobs has returned from Clifton, Mass., where he visited his brothers. Emery Calderwood and wife are rejoicing over the birth of a son. Mrs. Fred Eames is gaining. Miss Laura Wagner is at home from the village, caring for Mrs. Eames. F. Percy Partridge has been quite ill with a severe cold. Charles Lindsey of Prospect Village visited friends here last week. W. F. Ellis and wife of Seaboard visited their son Fred recently.

The Belfast Improvement Society.

At a meeting of the Belfast Improvement Society held Oct. 1st, a unanimous vote of thanks was passed to the G. A. R. for the use of Memorial Hall for meetings during the summer and for other courtesies and favors. The chairman of the Entertainment Committee reported the arrangements for the play Zephra well in hand, with every prospect of a successful presentation of the piece. The Rockland Opinion says of the play, five performances of which were given in that city last week: Never has the musical and histrionic talent of Rockland been so fully and successfully brought out as in the production of Zephra the past week, and the excellence of the opera and its presentation is attested by the fact that the last performance drew the largest audience. The opera is all that has been represented by the very flattering reports from other places where it has been produced, and more. The magnificence of the scenery, the beauty of the costumes and scenic effects, and the musical features, truly exceeded all expectations and could not well be overpraised.

The next regular meeting of the B. I. S. will be held in the Assessors room, first floor of Memorial Building, Monday, Oct. 8 at 3 p. m. A full attendance of members, particularly those acting on committees, is desired.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS.

Because it's for One Thing Only, and Belfast is Learning This.

Nothing can be good for everything. Doing one thing will bring success. Doan's Kidney Pills do one thing only. They're for sick kidneys.

They cure backache, every kidney ill. Here is Lewiston evidence to prove it.

Mr. John Watson, general blacksmith on the Sabbathday road, Lewiston, Me., says: "For eight years I had trouble with my back. When suffering at intervals from attacks I was lame during the day and in severe pain at night. After a hard day's work it was something horrible to endure. Soon after I retired, I was compelled to shift my position, looking for comfort, and as this continued all night, I arose often in the morning to begin another day's work more tired than when I went to bed. I read an account of Doan's Kidney Pills curing a back like mine, and I went to a drug store and got a box. Well, I kept taking them until the pain left. Since I stopped I have done lots of heavy work, but my back has stood the strain."

Just such emphatic endorsement can be had right here in Belfast. Call at Edmund Wilson's drug store and ask what is reported.

Sold for 50 cents per box at all dealers. Foster, Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—DOAN'S—and take no substitute.
